3. The contractor's name shown in Block 17a of the BPA and Block 8 of all subsequent modifications is hereby changed to read CorpSoft, Inc. in lieu of Corporate Software & Technology.

4. Paragraph 6.2 "Maintenance" of the BPA is hereby deleted and replaced with the following:

   6.2 Maintenance.

   Maintenance is available for all Adobe products offered under this agreement. Maintenance coverage is available for up to one year (see below). Maintenance coverage runs concurrently with the contract year (September 1 - August 31) and expires on either the contract anniversary date (August 31, 2002) or contract expiry date (August 31, 2003).

   Maintenance is orderable in 12-month or 6-month options, depending on when during the contract year it is ordered. If the order is placed in the first half of the contract year, the Government orders the 12-month option, which will provide coverage for 7-12 months (same price), depending on when in that 6-month period the maintenance is ordered. If the order is placed in the second half of the contract year, the Government orders the 6-month option, which will provide coverage for 1 to 6 months (same price), depending on when in that 6-month period the maintenance is ordered.

   Orders for new maintenance must be placed at the same time as the covered licenses are acquired, per the description above. Orders for maintenance renewal are placed at the beginning of a contract year (September 1) and only to renew maintenance previously purchased under this agreement.

   As a special consideration from Adobe, new maintenance orders placed in August 2002 will be held for entry on September 1, 2002, so that the Government may order the 12-month maintenance option throughout its fourth quarter. Adobe will provide any new releases to software that becomes available during August 2002, effectively providing one month of free maintenance to those who placed maintenance orders in August.

   Beginning September 1, 2002, and through the end of the contract period, which is August 31, 2003, maintenance is orderable on the contract per the description above: a) Maintenance ordered from September 1, 2002, to February 28, 2003, will have a 12-month price and will expire at the end of the contract period on August 31, 2003; b) Maintenance ordered from March 1, 2003 to August 31, 2003, will have a 6-month price and will also expire on August 31, 2003.

5. All other terms and conditions remain unchanged.
